HISTORY

The Saddlery Building was built in 1881 by Mr. J. Rubelman of Muscatine, Iowa who decided that Des Moines, with its two rivers & 13 railways, would be advantageous to his thriving saddlery company. He was right & ran a successful saddle, harness & leather works for almost 20 years. Since that time, the building has been home to a shoe maker, rubber company, stove manufacturer, glove company, the Krispy Kone Company & the Kaplan Hat Company (which was also the name of the restaurant once located on the first floor).

After the flood of 1993, during which the building housed 19 feet of water, the ground level was left vacant until 1996 when Court Avenue Restaurant & Brewing Co. (CABCo.) moved in its brewing equipment. The brew pub's décor & beer labels celebrate the history of the building & brewing in Iowa. Our beer labels are spin-offs from old defunct Iowa breweries that died-out during prohibition. Almost all of our pictures, posters, signs & bottles are antiques from by-gone Iowa breweries.

CABCo. is dedicated to brewing beers of premium quality & character. All of our beers are handcrafted by our Brewers, utilizing the traditional methods of our early American ancestors. We use only the finest natural ingredients: malted barley, hops, yeast & pure water. Brewing on site enables us to brew according to demand, assuring our customers the freshest beer possible. There is no substitute for a truly fresh beer!
